

Information

the helen hamlyn
research centre

dti

ricability

sprout

United Kingdom
Institute for Inclusive Design

scope

SCIENTIFIC GENERICS

About Us

Cambridge Engineering Design Centre

www.edc.eng.cam.ac.uk

The Cambridge Engineering Design Centre undertakes research to create knowledge, understanding, methods and tools that will contribute to improving the design process.

Department of Trade and Industry

www.dti.gov.uk

The DTI works with business, employees and consumers to drive up UK productivity and competitiveness to deliver prosperity for all.

Helen Hamlyn Research Centre

www.hrc.rca.ac.uk

The Helen Hamlyn Research Centre works to advance a socially inclusive approach to design through practical research and projects with industry.

Ricability

www.ricability.org.uk

Ricability is an independent research charity which publishes practical, actionable and unbiased guides for older and disabled consumers based on thorough professional research.

Royal National Institute for the Blind

www.rnib.org.uk

The RNIB is a charity helping people to live with sight loss.

Scientific Generics

www.generics.co.uk

The Generics Group is a leading integrated technology consulting, development and investment organisation, with an international reputation for successfully commercialising emerging science and technology.

Scope

www.scope.org.uk

Scope is a disability organisation in England and Wales whose focus is people with cerebral palsy.

Sprout

www.sproutdesign.co.uk

Sprout is an industrial design consultancy which aims to integrate the disciplines of inclusive design and sustainable design into mainstream design practice.

United Kingdom Institute for Inclusive Design

www.ukiid.org

The UKIID brings together design professionals and disabled users who are committed to raising the profile and standard of inclusive design in every aspect of our lives.

Information

Useful Websites

The Design Council

[www.designcouncil.org.uk/
inclusivedesign](http://www.designcouncil.org.uk/inclusivedesign)

The Design Council's purpose is to 'inspire and enable the best use of design by the UK, in the world context, to improve prosperity and well-being.'

RSA Inclusive Design Resource

www.inclusivedesign.org.uk

This website is for design students and their tutors, professional designers, design managers and policy makers. It aims to introduce newcomers to key concepts, examples and design/research methods, and to support practitioners in gathering together relevant information to build up their own collection of tools and techniques.

Helen Hamlyn Research Centre

www.hhrc.rca.ac.uk

The Helen Hamlyn Research Centre works to advance a socially inclusive approach to design through practical research and projects with industry.

Cambridge Engineering Design Centre

www.eng.cam.ac.uk/inclusivedesign

This web site, based on a book by Simeon Keates and John Clarkson, is designed to raise awareness of the issues relating to Inclusive Design, and to suggest design approaches.

Trace Centre, University of Wisconsin-Madison

www.trace.wisc.edu

The Trace Research & Development Center is a part of the College of Engineering, University of Wisconsin-Madison. Founded in 1971, Trace has been a pioneer in the field of technology and disability.

Adaptive Environments

www.adaptenv.org

Adaptive Environments, based in the USA, promotes accessibility as well as universal design through education programs, technical assistance, training, consulting, publications and design advocacy.